

4

ARDCAIRN RESOURCES

LEARNING CAIRN

We all want to learn. We enhance our sphere of knowledge by learning with peers.

We run peer learning opportunities to provide a space for learners to bring their ideas and pre-conceptions, and transform them collectively. Learning with peers facilitates the exchange of information, provides opportunities to observe and compare, and helps individuals refine their inner dialogue. Peer learning empowers lifelong learning by weaving insights and expertise within communities of trust.

Basic building blocks for facilitating peer learning

For more information and examples of peer learning, see Ardcairn's work on lifelong learning.

3

How will you measure the success of the learning outcomes?

SUBJECT

What is the main subject for your peer learning opportunity?

2

How many sessions will you hold?

SCHEDULE

When will you facilitate the learning? Will you use synchronous, asynchronous activities, or both?

TECH

Where will the learning materials and activities be hosted? What tech will you use: video conferencing, collaborative documents?

1

How will you create trust and encourage contribution?

ACTIVITIES

What topics will you discuss? What activities, materials or questions will you use to create a trusted environment and empower the exchange of information? How will you help learners make comparisons and refine their inner dialogue?

LEARNING LOOP

REFINE

COMPARE EXCHANGE

LEARNERS

Who are your learners?
Who would benefit from learning about this subject

OUTCOMES

What learning outcomes do you want to achieve?
Why would someone value participating?

ARDCAIRN